SPA-LTC & CANADIAN VIRTUAL HOSPICE COLLABORATION: FREE E-LEARNING MODULES

SPA-LTC and Canadian Virtual Hospice have come together to develop two new videos in English and French to raise awareness about Canadian Virtual Hospice's free grief modules housed on CVHLearningHub.ca.

Long Term Care: Understanding and Responding to Grief!

These grief learning resources are for people working in long-term care settings. No matter your role, end-of-life, grief, and bereavement will be part of your working life. These modules will help increase your understanding about grief and confidence in supporting patients and their families. View the overview video here <https://vimeo.com/868444976>

Healthcare Provider Grief: Recognizing and Responding

Recognizing your grief is a necessary but often forgotten part of working in healthcare. We hope these modules will help you and your healthcare team support each other and share your own stories about grief and meaning to improve your own health, well-being, and work. View the overview video here <https://vimeo.com/868443246>

Indigenous Cultural Safety Training

Everyone working in healthcare has a responsibility to contribute to respectful care that honours and includes cultural traditions and beliefs. In these modules, you will hear from Indigenous Peoples about their values, beliefs, and views about care, explore barriers to culturally safer care, and learn how to address these barriers.

- Improve capacity to respectfully engage with Indigenous Peoples
- Improve the quality of care for those living with advanced illness and their families
- Explore traditional cultures, values, wishes, and beliefs

Grief Training: Building Healthcare Provider Capacity

Regardless of your professional role, you're likely to encounter patients and families who are experiencing loss and grief. The goal of these modules is to increase your understanding about grief as you support patients and their families.

Methadone for Analgesia in Palliative Care

Methadone4Pain is a series of three education modules for physicians, nurses and pharmacists seeking to improve their knowledge in prescribing and managing patients prescribed methadone for pain in palliative care. It has been certified by the College of Family Physicians of Canada and the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada for Continuing Professional Education Credits.

SPA-LTC'S PARTNERSHIP WITH SE HEALTH TO SUPPORT INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES

First Nations, Inuit & Métis Program

In 2022, the SPA-LTC team has joined with the SE Health First Nations, Inuit and Métis (FNIM) Program to work with Indigenous communities across Canada on promoting a palliative approach. This partnership aims to enhance the quality of life for residents living in long term care homes through to the end of life, including bereavement. Mary Lou Kelley, Ph.D., M.S.W., is a Professor Emeritus in the School of Social Work at Lakehead University and has been spearheading the project on behalf of the SPA-LTC team. Corey MacKenzie, Director of New Initiatives, is the lead for SE Health FNIM program, along with Doris Warner, Engagement Liaison.

We would welcome being contacted by people involved with an Indigenous long term care home and we will reach out to discuss how SPA-LTC can collaborate to support their work. Feel free to contact our Program Manager Sally Shaw at burtens@mcmaster.ca

Health Canada granted this alliance five years of project funding in 2021 with the goal of building, producing, and disseminating the best tools and resources for establishing palliative care capacity in long-term care facilities across Canada.

This past February 2024, Mary Lou (right) presented a session on the SPA-LTC program at the Advancing Indigenous Policy & Practice Knowledge Exchange along with Lori Monture (left), the manager of Six Nations Home & Community Care. The knowledge exchange was attended by more than 150 in-person and 200 virtual participants from across Canada, including Indigenous Elders, Knowledge Keepers, providers, policy professionals, leaders, advocates and allies.

BC CENTRE FOR PALLIATIVE CARE

BC Centre for Palliative Care

On February 26, 2024, 14 leaders and educators from all BC health authorities and some individual LTC homes met for a Long-Term Care Provincial Roundtable in Richmond BC. The day was led by Della Roberts, Strategic Projects Manager with the BC Centre for Palliative Care (BCCPC) and co-facilitated by Clara Dyck, the SPA-LTC BC Lead, and Lorna Ross, LTC Project Consultant, BCCPC.

The objectives of the day were to:

- Share areas of successful integration of a palliative approach into LTC processes and practices
- Build upon foundations in place in BC and nationally with SPA-LTC
- Identify and prioritize areas for potential province wide collaboration and integration

Throughout the day, everyone was in high spirits and eager to continue collaborating.

A report of the roundtable is being compiled and highlights will be shared when it is complete and validated by the participants.

Through a mix of story telling, “world café” interaction and consensus building activities, the group answered the following questions:

- Why is a palliative approach important to you?
- How would you know a palliative approach to care is integrated?
- What are the challenges of implementing a palliative approach?
- Describe some examples of successful palliative approach integration.
- Identify opportunities for further integration of a palliative approach.
- What do you see as the priority areas for integrating a palliative approach?

In Nova Scotia, the SPA-LTC team has been developing a strong partnership with the Nova Scotia Nursing Home Association. An educational webinar on the SPA-LTC program was presented to members of the association this past summer who showed immense support for implementing the program. In a letter written to the ministry, the association underscored the impact that the SPA-LTC program would have on homes across the province.

Our team’s goal is to soon have the capacity to to implement SPA resources province-wide. We are working on a plan to build and deliver an education series based on existing SPA eLearning modules. This additional education will include a “Train-the-Trainer” series for palliative champions to enhance knowledge translation.

One home applied for a grant and were successful, allowing them to fund a dedicated project manager for six months to work with the provincial lead and champion on implementing the SPA-LTC program within their home.

“ GEM has been fortunate to partner with SPA LTC, we did the self-assessment which has increase our awareness to the Palliative care Approach. SPALTC is now embedded in our Learning Managing System to provide education to better serve our staff to provide quality palliative care to our residents. **”

CHERYL NICKERSON LPN

QUALITY CONTROL COORDINATOR GEM HEALTH CARE

In Nova Scotia, the SPA-LTC has welcomed a new palliative champion, Lesley Hirst. With over 34 years of experience working in health care, Lesley provides an invaluable addition to the SPA program.

Beyond already having over 40 meetings with various levels of LTC groups and decision makers, Lesley is currently working with 17 homes to provide them with more hands-on support to implement the program. In addition, Lesley has been in discussion with one large corporation in Nova Scotia, consisting of 14 homes other homes, that are looking to also implement the program in the facilities

Lesley has also created a number of resources for the program. Check out the SPA-LTC Logic Model and the Foods and Fluids family resource.

PARTNERSHIP WITH SHARED HEALTH

Manitoba

Manitoba's provincial health authority, Shared Health, has formalized a relationship with the SPA-LTC program this past October 2023. Shared Health, in collaboration with Genevieve Thompson, the SPA-LTC lead in Manitoba, has put together a project to work with the SPA-LTC program in long-term care homes across the province. Shared Health is committed to supporting knowledge translation efforts as they support these sites with applying the palliative approach.

In September 2023, the SPA-LTC team in Manitoba held a half-day workshop in which barriers and facilitators to implementing the program were discussed with Shared Health as well as with the Long-Term & Continuing Care Association of Manitoba and the Winnipeg, Prairie Mountain, and Northern Health authorities. This workshop sparked interest and support for the program from these health authorities.

From providing paper pamphlets and resources to homes, to preparing presentations on the program for staff teams, we are working towards building province-wide palliative capacity. The goal in Manitoba is to integrate

SPA elements into current processes used in LTC homes. On October 17th, Genevieve Thompson presented to 43 Directors of Personal Care Homes and Clinical Leads within the Winnipeg Regional Health Authority. This presentation covered aspects of the SPA-LTC toolkit and asked interested homes to contact Genevieve if interested in implementation. At the end of February 2024, the SPA-LTC team has met with 30 individuals representing care homes from across Manitoba to present and discuss initiation of the program.
